All too often in the world of software development, testing is not seriously considered until the system is nearly code complete. With rapid release cycles, and tighter constraints on head count, automated regression test suites are becoming more of a necessity rather than a luxury. TechSouth's functional test automation services, combined with our proven test automation framework, allow you to verify that your application's functionality meets requirements.

Our consultants will test and report on the functionality of your application quickly and efficiently, helping you keep a handle on the quality of your application throughout its' development cycle. TechSouth's functional testing services can be performed manually, or through the use of the latest automated testing tools like Mercury WinRunner and QuickTest Professional, saving you time and money, while reducing product time-to-market and human capital investment, and greatly improving its' quality.

Like much of the development process, testing requires a methodical building-block approach - requirements definition, planning, design, execution, and analysis - ensuring full coverage, consistency, and reusability of testing assets.

We use proven processes and techniques - TechSouth consultants are trained and experienced in SEI/CMM test planning methods and techniques.

- Our test process is customized for the client and focuses on the client and their project
- We augment your test capability, if you don't have needed testing expertise in-house and do not have the space to bring in consultants on your site or if you don't have time to find and hire qualified software test experts

- TechSouth gives you the flexibility to test what you need to test, when you need to test it!

TechSouth's functional test management team will scope your project, evaluate your artifacts and documentation, and identify your transactions prior to staffing the appropriate test specialist. Our experienced engagement management team continues to manage the TechSouth resources assigned to your project, throughout the project, providing valuable mentoring and direction to you and your staff, and ensuring on-time deliverables ... exceeding your expectations.

TechSouth's functional testing services can be customized to fit each stage of the development process. Partnering with TechSouth affords the ability to utilize the best software quality professionals where you need them, when you need them - at a cost that is graduated for each step of the process.
